

SHIELD OF FAITH

"Take Up the Shield of Faith" - Paul

Wednesday July 24, 2019

Yet what kind of men were they who set their hands to the task [of rebuilding the temple]? They were men who constantly resisted the Holy Spirit, revolutionists bent on stirring up sedition. After the destruction which occurred under Vespasian and Titus, these Jews rebelled during the reign of Hadrian and tried to go back to the old commonwealth and way of life. What they failed to realize was that they were fighting against the decree of God, who had ordered that Jerusalem remain forever in ruins. — St. John Chrysostom, Adversus Iudaeos

The Jewish Revolutionary Spirit

I am close with only one person who boldly claims the religion or ethnicity of Judaism. He may claim both, I don't know. I was publicly condemned by Maine's Rabbi in the early 2000s. I wrote, at the time, about a visit to the holocaust museum in Washington D.C. I was offended by the fact that the first signage I encountered as I entered the lobby was a celebration of sodomy. The Rabbi didn't like what I wrote.

I didn't deny the holocaust. I am, however, now interested in thinkers/writers like Charles Bausman who wrote in an email yesterday, "Once we begin to scrutinize the staggering fabric of lies that have been spun by Jewish elites over the past 100 years or so, one inevitably arrives at the 'Holocaust', which I am now convinced one can fairly say, based on articles republished on this site over the last year, did not happen." Bausman is the founder and publisher of the respected online publication Russia Insider.

I have always been interested in facts and truth. I view the ideas themselves as neutral in my consciousness. My concern is with what ideas ... taken together mostly in harmony with other ideas over long periods of time ... do to people. The fruit of ideas taken together can be fearful.

Globalism, cultural Marxism and multi-culturalism are ideas that scare me. In my attempt to understand their genesis I keep tripping over "the Jews."

This has caused me to be interested in the scholar E. Michael Jones. His willingness to sacrifice his academic career over the "abortion" issue deepened my desire to expose myself to his thinking. YouTube has granted me a privilege never before known to man. Because Jones doesn't skimp on making himself available to YouTubers you can access countless recent interviews with him there. My subscription to YouTube Premium makes it possible for me to listen with my phone off, and when I don't have a cellular connection. I can listen anywhere, anytime.

His interviews inspired a strong interest in the book he wrote "The Jewish Revolutionary Spirit and Its Impact on World History."

Published in 2008 Israel Shamir describes the book, in his back page blurb, as, “a monumental book which scoops two thousand years of troublesome relations between Christendom and the Jews, and endeavors to connect Jewish strategies of permanent revolution with the permanent Jewish rebellion against Christ (Logos). This timely book may help to regain the lost balance between Judaic and Christian tendencies in the Western mind.”

Jones comes across in his interviews as a thoughtful, dedicated and tolerant academic. He doesn't dissemble. He speaks a mind soaked in research and writing triggered by his firing at the hands of the feminist warrior class in Western Academe. This happened over thirty years ago.

The book is 1200 pages including endnotes and index.

He appears to me to be a man who is determined to discover and write the truth, no matter the cost. And there is nothing more dangerous to the Christian conservative in America today than to be critical of Israel and the Jews.

Jones is an American Roman Catholic. His views on sexual morality are traditional and Christian. America and Israel are the world's most forceful promoters of sodomy. Jones has not avoided candid criticism of sodomy in the West.

The most delicious political irony in the Jones story is the fact that Mayor Pete Buttwhatever grew up two doors down from the Jones family. Mayor Pete was sired by one of the most toxic Leftist/Marxist professors in the West. Jones was tossed out of the Roman Catholic academy while Mayor Pete's dad did quite well, thank you very much. Jones has five children. Pete didn't come out to play with the neighborhood children. Jones describes him as a “kitchen window kid.” More on that in a future column.

All this motivates me to crack the cover of the book, which I picked up from the library yesterday morning. I have it until August 1st. I may try to renew it. His writing style has captured my attention. I hope to read the whole book and tell you what I think.

One thing I've already thought is how his work is bringing to the surface the intolerance of evanjellyfish Zionists. Dr. Michael Brown has launched a crusade against Jones, calling him a “Christian anti-Semite.” Brown has a significant following among American evangelicals. I appreciate his work critical of the sodomy and baby murder brigade.

Look, none of what we're dealing with just came out of thin air. We are at this point in the West — where I can't pay Facebook to boost a political/religious post (they said yesterday that a Christian post we wanted to run violated their “community standards”) because of intentions, ideas, agendas and programs. Where did they come from? Who supports them? What is their reasoning? Who are they?

Why can't we ask these questions?

More important, why can't we answer them.

Oh yes, we can ask and answer them — as long as they don't come anywhere near developing a negative or critical assertion about “the Jews.”

Selah.
