A mosque is not a holy ground and God's presence is not in that place. A mosque is a place of Islam, and Islam is a religious ideology of violence. — Julio Severo, Brazilian Blogger

Islam: More Chaos for America

<https://email.althahosting.com/campaigns/sk8141y23h82d>

Nearly ten thousand churches die each year in America. Islamic mosques are opening. Their numbers are growing. London has an Islamic mayor, and the British government is waging an all out Marxist-inspired war on her citizens. Politicians are convinced that the future of the world is multicultural. They've bought the lie. Diversity is NOT a strength.

We're all convinced that the growing chaos in our nations is temporary. We think that all religions and ideologies can coexist in the same zip code. This is, of course, ludicrous on it's face. Planting a mosque next to a church doesn't just create temporary chaos. It is purposely sowing weeds in with the good crops. If you plant enough weeds it's only a matter of time before the good crops die off.

I don't hate muslims. I'm just not all that interested in their "religion." If they want to live that way that's fine with me. It's simple to realize, however, that they aren't going to coexist for long with Christianity. Well-intentioned modern Marx-addicted men think the temporary religious chaos sown by their wicked immigration policies will eventually make the world into a multicultural paradise. Bad men are making profit off the chaos.

I was red pill'd on this point awhile ago by Bill Warner, PhD. He runs an outfit called the Center for the Study of Political Islam. He produced a video on YouTube that's amassed over two million views. Using helpful graphics he PROVES in five minutes that the Crusades were entirely defensive. There were very few Crusades ... less than a dozen over a couple hundred years. Islam launched hundreds, if not thousands, of offensive attacks — over hundreds of years — into Europe. For over a millennium they've been making war in the name of their religion.

Islam coerces those around them to submit to Allah. Christianity developed along a different path. Christianity's high regard for individual conscience contributed much to the flowering of Western Civilization. Religion, by definition, is all encompassing. All religions soak into every sinew of a culture, a people. That's what makes them religions. I'm not saying that people don't have a right to choose Islam. I am saying that nations have an obligation to make a decision about ultimate matters, like God. If nations fail to do that they sign the death warrant for their culture.

We have a recent example of nations erasing borders and forming a "Union" without God. It is dead now. It was called the Soviet Union. This Union physically killed millions of her own people believing the bloody chaos would create an egalitarian utopia. Now Russia is proudly Christian. It would be so easy for America to avoid this Leftist blood letting. Will we choose to do that?

Not so long ago a sociologist theorized that America is a triple melting pot of three religious systems — Protestantism, Catholicism and Judaism. We are being asked now by politicians dedicated to settling muslims here to add Islam to the list. Muslims have congregated in some parts of the nation in sufficient density to send their own representatives to Congress. Will it work? Many Americans think of our “City on a Hill” as sufficiently malleable to assimilate Islam. They think we can become a quadruple melting pot. I’m not convinced.

Even the triple melting pot idea may be breaking down. Standing on his popular three word mantra, “Borders, Language and Culture” radio talk show host Michael Savage launched a frontal assault on what he called “Atheist Jews” last week. He is a Jew. He claimed that the Jewish deep state killed Jesus Christ. He doubled down and suggested that the same atheist Jewish deep state is crucifying Donald Trump. He said deep states emerge throughout history wherever Jews live.

Jews gained enormous power in the United States over the past one hundred and fifty years because of the tolerance of Protestant Christians. A movement called evangelicalism emerged. It wrote what I’ll call a theology of Israel during the twentieth century. At the heart of this theology is a sense of doom — end times. I’ve lived my whole life being told that Jesus is going to snatch me out of here because the sodomy-loving nation state of Israel re-appeared on the eastern shore of the Mediterranean in the middle part of the last century. Dates of his return often accompany the gloomy pronouncements.

Nobody knows the future. I sure don’t. I am astute enough, however, to notice that there’s some tectonic shifting going on in the world with respect to religions and ideology. Earthquakes and volcanoes are the result of what’s called sublimation. As one tectonic plate is forced beneath the adjacent one it jumps ahead. The result is earth shaking and explosive.

I suspect satan’s globalist project is getting close to a jump. Probably best to be spiritually, mentally and physically prepared.

Amen.
