*The Kochs are libertarian ideologues, passionate and inflexible. America first? —

Why Are They Running Christianity?

I love my oldest son with my whole heart. I raised him to be a Christian. He's married and has two very young sons. His wife is a kind and lovely young lady raised not far from where I sent my son to college. I sent him to Grove City College thinking that this would deepen and strengthen his Christian faith and convictions. I was wrong.

He goes to church faithfully. He helps lead the worship team. He leads Bible Studies. He loves Jesus with as much of his whole heart as a thirty-something super blessed American Evangelical oldest son can.

Since choosing to give in to asthma as our reason for stepping back from his boyhood desire to become a United States Marine I've learned why I lost him to KOCHism. I regret not finding a way to get him into the Corp. I have three sons. Two became Marine Sergeants. My oldest became a Marine of another sort. Instead of having to survive days in boot camp he survived four years of Grove City College.

Most evanjellyfish Christians think of the College as an academic boot camp. It isn't. It is a prep school for KOCHism. They made my son into an inflexible infantryman for the Koch brother's brand of libertarianism. Worse, however, is that somehow they bred into him a "love" for homosexuals. That last doctrine has been the most difficult for me.

Respect for sexual sin is a core doctrine of all brands of libertarianism I've encountered. I got an up close and personal look in 2011 when I worked for Ron Paul in Iowa during the presidential campaign. It is a movement designed from the ground up to deny fundamental doctrines of Christianity governing social and family life.

Ron Paul himself is fine with so-called "gay marriage" as long as the local governments go along. In other words he is a culture warrior FOR homosexual marriage at the federal level by pivoting to state's rights. I think sodomy is disgusting and sodomites must experience a come-to-Jesus moment — or they're doomed. All things sodomy should be criminalized at the local, state AND national level. Sex outside of marriage is that toxic to culture and common sense. Libertarians are a perfect example of how brain dead smart people can become when economics becomes God.

This column is written with a deep heart of sincere love and fatherly care for his oldest son. Jesus put it this way, “If anyone comes to me and does not hate father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters--yes, even their own life--such a person cannot be my disciple.” Since I dedicated my life to Jesus Christ in 1980 I’ve worked hard to make Him the singular leader of my life. Most of the time I’ve failed. Occasionally I get it right.

As I look back I realize that one of the reasons I chose weakness over strength in the fight was false human respect. This is most potent when it comes to members of my immediate family. I’m not being disloyal in this column. My oldest son is a man ... a father ... now. He stands and fights on his own. If he reads this he’ll have to choose whether to walk away from me, fight with me, or listen to what I have to say.

But this is about so much more than my son and me. My own family is an illustration of what American Christianity has become. At the heart of our problem is lack of belief. Jesus Christ is right about sex. All the time and in every way. Hocus Pocus on the Scamily’s channeling of Freud is gutting evangelicalism. It is destroying all of U.S.

Donald Trump is our fault. He is God’s mercy on U.S. We deserve Hellary. Trump is the best God can do when the titular leader of American Christianity puts human respect over common sense. Franklin Graham recently defended the super rich Chick-Fil-A sell outs because he knows, personally, the family.

Well, I know personally thousands of families that either don’t exist anymore, have lost a child or two to suicide and/or believe American ideology is religion. The Graham family led Christians to the altar, abandoned them there, and went on to build a global corporate mega ministry. The Billy Graham Evangelistic Association is the Google of religion.

The Koch Brothers own and operate American evangelicalism and the Republican Party. They love their riches and they hate Jesus Christ in the common man.

Tucker Carlson observed recently, “The Kochs don’t care about Republican voters or what happens to them. Ok. But then why are they running the Republican Party? That’s a question Republicans should start asking themselves.”

Here’s my version. The Kochs don’t care about Christianity or what happens to it. OK. But then why are they running Grove City College and Evangelical Christianity? That’s a question American Evangelicals should start asking themselves.

Selah.
